

Research exploring resident exam experiences

Have you just passed your residency exams or do you know someone who has?

My name is Kimberley deLaunay and I am a Masters of Public Health student at the University of Liverpool and I would like to talk to medical residents and physicians who have just written their final high stakes exams in Canada and who would be willing to share their insights and experiences of preparing for and completing these exams.

If you are interested and would like more information, please contact me directly at examstressperspective@gmail.com.
