WINSHIP
CANCER
INSTITUTE

A Cancer Center Designated by the National Cancer Institute

Radiation Oncology Resident, PGY-2 or Higher
Department of Radiation Oncology
Emory University School of Medicine

The Department of Radiation Oncology at Emory University is recruiting for a newly funded resident position in radiation oncology to commence in September 2016. An exemption from the NRMP has been obtained to fill this position outside of the Match. The position may be filled at the PGY-2 or higher level. Emory's radiation oncology residency training program is accredited by the ACGME and approved for 16 residents. Residents receive training at three sites within the Winship Cancer Institute – Emory University Hospital, Emory University Hospital Midtown, and Emory Saint Joseph's Hospital – as well as at Grady Memorial Hospital and the Atlanta VA Medical Center. State-of-the-art clinical facilities are networked with a strong emphasis on multidisciplinary patient care and clinical trial development. There are currently 40 faculty members in the Divisions of Clinical Affairs, Cancer Biology and Medical Physics. The department participates in national studies including NRG, COG and ECOG-ACRIN and is one of 30 Lead Academic Participating Sites (LAPS) for the National Clinical Trials Network (NCTN). The Winship Cancer Institute is ranked among the top 25 cancer hospitals in the nation and is Georgia's only NCI-designated cancer center, with over 250 active phase I, II, and III clinical trials. Visit radiationoncology.emory.edu for additional information.

In determining resident eligibility and appointment, Emory will not discriminate with regard to a resident's gender, race, religion, color, creed, national origin, disability, sexual orientation or veteran status.

Interested applicants should submit a personal statement, curriculum vitae, a copy of their USMLE board scores for all available portions, a copy of their medical school transcript, a copy of their Dean's letter if available, and three letters of recommendation to:
