

Add Some ALOHA to your Fourth Year!

The Pediatric Department at the University of Hawai'i and the Kapi'olani Medical Center for Women and Children invite you to join us for 2 and 4 week rotations in Pediatric Residents at play.

Ambulatory Pediatrics – Experience outpatient clinics with a Pacific Islander population

Adolescent Medicine – Community based experience with at-risk youth

Cardiology – Inpatient and outpatient evaluation/treatment of neonatal, child, and adolescent cardiovascular problems

Developmental Behavioral Pediatrics – Clinic based rotation serving children with developmental and behavioral challenges

Genetics – Inpatient and outpatient evaluation and treatment of children with proven or suspected Genetic disease

Hematology – Tertiary referral center for inpatient and outpatient care of children with malignant and hematologic disease

Infectious Disease – See a great variety of common and unusual inpatient and outpatient infectious diseases

Inpatient Sub-Internship – Gain intern level experience in a primary and tertiary care setting serving Hawai'i and the entire Pacific

NICU Sub-Internship – Provide intern level care in a busy 50 bed tertiary care NICU (which serves the entire Pacific Rim)

Pediatric Emergency Medicine – Evaluate children in a busy ED seeing everything from "Bread and Butter" pediatric problems to serious and exotic cases

Rheumatology – Outpatient and inpatient care of patients with rheumatologic problems, many unique to our multi-ethnic population

For more information and to discuss what rotation is right for you contact: Crystal Costa (808) 983-8387 Email: costaca@hawaii.edu

photo by Karen Alijamas